

Did you know?

- Four (4) innocent wolves were brutally trapped and killed during the making of this movie, “The Grey”.
- Trapping is an inhumane method of hunting that is no longer necessary in a civilized society.
- Two of the wolves depicted in the movie, The Grey, were eaten by cast members during the making of the film.

To learn more about wolves and what you can do to end the inhumane practice of trapping in America please visit the

National Wolfwatcher Coalition’s website at

www.wolfwatcher.org

“Wolfwatcher”

Did you know?

- Four (4) innocent wolves were brutally trapped and killed during the making of this movie, “The Grey.”
- Trapping is an inhumane method of hunting that is no longer necessary in a civilized society.
- Two of the wolves depicted in the movie, The Grey, were eaten by cast members during the making of the film.

To learn more about wolves and what you can do to end the inhumane practice of trapping in America please visit the

National Wolfwatcher Coalition’s website at

www.wolfwatcher.org

“Wolfwatcher”

Did you know?

- Four (4) innocent wolves were brutally trapped and killed during the making of this movie, “The Grey.”
- Trapping is an inhumane method of hunting that is no longer necessary in a civilized society.
- Two of the wolves depicted in the movie, The Grey, were eaten by cast members during the making of the film.

To learn more about wolves and what you can do to end the inhumane practice of trapping in America please visit the

National Wolfwatcher Coalition’s website at

www.wolfwatcher.org

“Wolfwatcher”

